Before electric freezers there was canned beef. It is here again and for a lot of good reasons. New Certified Texas Longhorn Beef (CTLB) is carefully slow cooked, totally grass fed, free range raised, all natural, and for convenience, comes ready to heat and serve in minutes.

Please be advised to store cans in a dry place at room temperature to prevent freezing. Freezing may cause the can to swell and break the seal.

Most canned meat is a product of Brazil or China. CTLB is home grown in the good old USA. The ingredients do not include califragiilistic expealodocious or monosodium glutamate, but due to a total grass fed product, it does contain wonderful omega-3, vitamin E, and CLA along with many other great and wonderful natural health treasures.

Each large 28 oz. can contains simply, beef & salt. Very slow cooked, the juices are totally retained for a wonderful broth. It is boneless and has a minimum 5 year shelf life without refrigeration. Perfect for emergency provision, even if the electricity goes off.

Great for stews or soups -- Just add your favorite vegetables and heat. Make "sloppy joes" or add barbecue for a tail gate grub of excellence. Enjoy just like fresh roast beef, yet without the preparation time.
